

Use of copolymers as assistants for leather production

Abstract

- 5 Graft copolymers which contain at least one monoethylenically unsaturated monomer comprising at least one nitrogen-containing heterocycle are used as assistants for leather production.